FROM THE LAS VEGAS SUN <http://www.lasvegassun.com/sunbin/stories/sports/2000/sep/07/51073392...> September 07, 2000 LV Olympic gymnast's family trying to make Sydney trip By Steve Addy LAS VEGAS SUN The Sydney Olympics are halfway around the globe, but employers and communities throughout the U.S. are making sure Olympians' families get to see the Games in person. Caesars Palace has gotten things rolling for the family of Tasha Schwikert, a 15-year-old Las Vegas and an alternate on the U.S. women's gymnastics team. Tasha's parents, Shannon Warren and Joy Schwikert, both longtime craps dealers at Caesars, this week received a generous donation from the hotel-casino to help sponsor the family's trip. Caesars Palace policy prohibits revealing the amount, vice president of public relations Debbie Munch said. But Joy Schwikert said it was $5,000
