...aah, yes. Wallace Shawn. In HEAVEN HELP US, he was the priest who lectures the Catholic school dance about the evils of lust in such an almost Hitlerian manner that it becomes obvious that he's digging the aspects of the topic he's ostensibly there to deplore. And in SIMON, he's the nutcase headshrinker who wonders aloud about the value of crossbreeding a human with a cockroach. The two roles aren't all that far apart, really...
